

I find the restrictions that Hollywood wants to place on home recording beyond objectionable. I know that the copyright holders have to have some expectation of a return on their investments in media, but disabling home taping is beyond what I would consider reasonable.

I have limited time to watch TV. I will NOT watch it on their schedule. If they eliminate the possibility of tape delays at my house, they will simply lose a viewer. As will the satellite service I currently pay for.

Reasonable use must be maintained. At the highest quality possible.

Thank you
